Not Goodbye

• With the last scheduled program of the season March 5, we says, "au revoir," to The Lively Arts, but please, never "goodbye." We have enjoyed each program and hope to have the same privilege in the future. Many thanks.—G.B., Edmonton.

Art Morrow Has Fans in the U.S.A.

• March 4 I was driving downtown to mail a letter, and dialed onto your Sunday Showcase program. I delayed leaving my car for about 20 minutes to sit and enjoy the fine music of Art Morrow. To my knowledge, I hadn't before listened to your station (CBW), nor had I heard Art Morrow. I compliment you very highly for a program of good jazz. And the brief announcements were unique, too.—J.S., Rapid City, S.D.

Viewpoint Informative, But . . .

• I would like to compliment the CBC on the fine television program, Viewpoint. This short program of comment and opinion (Monday to Friday following the late edition of CBC-TV News) does the most to make the half-hour in which it appears the most informative half-hour in Canadian television. At least that is how I felt until this past week (March 5-9).

I was most disappointed in the poor coverage of the Canadian Conference on Education on television, especially on such a program as Viewpoint. Developments in the conference could very well shape the lives of Canadians, youth and adults alike, for the next decade. A detailed examination of each day's procedure was certainly warranted. CBC-TV certainly fell down in its approach if the only significant feature of the conference it could grasp was educational costs (however important) as outlined by Mayor H. L. Henderson of Portage la Prairie on Thursday, March 8. I must admit, however, that reports on the conference on CBC radio by Marion McCormick were much appreciated. —M.A.M., Winnipeg.

Kraft Goes West

• Thank you for the Kraft Western Music Hall on February 28. It was a most delightful change—the comedy quartet on the Perry Como Show leave much to be desired, in my opinion. . . .—Mrs. S.S., Olds, Alta.

Lack of Talent Scouts

• In your Feb. 24 issue you gave reasons for not programming more drama on television. Regarding your statement "lack of talent," if you had said "lack of talent scouts" I would have agreed with you. I cannot over-emphasize Canada's drowsiness toward undiscovered talent. Many of these without recognition could leave the CBC regulars as trash.

I had to go to the United States and there I was greeted with open arms.—W.S., Marlin, Sask.

David Copperfield

Charles Dickens' beloved novel comes to television in a new Monday afternoon series on CBC-TV. George Leonard Cracknell plays David as a boy, and Meadows White is Mr. Barkis. As the series progresses, Robert Hardy takes the part of the older David.

The Jazz Struggle:

Black vs. White

JAZZ COULD BE strangled to death, some critics feel, if the growing ill feeling between Negro and white jazzmen—based on racial differences—is allowed to get out of hand. Is jazz a Negro expression or by now simply an American one? The argument and its attendant bitterness have long existed underground but now they have boiled up to the surface and are worrying musicians and integrationists. Recently the jazz magazine Downbeat invited a group of leading jazz musicians and authorities to discuss the problem. Their candid conversation was tape-recorded and a transcript of it has appeared in the last two issues of the magazine.

Sunday night, April 8, CBC-TV's Quest presents a documentary program made up of that tape-recorded discussion, with still photographs of the participants taken at the recording session, and illustrative music. Titled Black and White—Racial Prejudice in Jazz, it was produced by Harvey Hart.

Participants include Abbey Lincoln, a singer who has entertained in some of the plushier American and British supper clubs and is now devoting herself to jazz, particularly songs dealing with social injustice; Max Roach, one of the most influential drummers in jazz history, and the author of several compositions which Miss Lincoln has sung; Ira Gitler, a Downbeat record reviewer who is currently writing a book about jazz of the 1940's; Don Ellis, a trumpeter who has played with Maynard Ferguson and George Russell, among others; Argentina-born composer and pianist Lalo Schiffrin, who plays with the Dizzy Gillespie Quintet; Nat Hentoff, one of the best jazz writers in North America; Bill Coss, a sociologist who edits Downbeat; and Don deMichael, his assistant editor.

Much of their discussion centres around Gitler's Downbeat review of Miss Lincoln's candid album, Straight Ahead. "I dislike propaganda in art when it is a device," he said. "Abbey Lincoln is involved in African nationalism without realizing that the African Negro doesn't give a fig for the American Negro, especially if they are not blackly authentic . . . Pride in one's heritage is one thing, but we don't need the Elijah Muhammad type of thinking in jazz."

A Hockey Fan's Dream Come True

ON A FARM in Manitoba, not far west of Winnipeg, there's a boy with stars in his eyes. His name is Billy Young. A month ago he was brought to Toronto to be the guest of Johnny Wayne for a thrilling week of filming a documentary on hockey to be seen on Camera Canada on Monday, April 9.

Billy is 14 years old and one of his major interests in life is hockey. When his farm chores are done in the early morning he puts on his skates and changes his name. No longer is he plain Billy Young. He is Big Jean Beliveau, skating like the wind towards the Toronto Maple Leafs' goal—out-foxing his check, sweeping around the defense and scoring on a bullet-like drive against a stunned Johnny Bower. Or, he is wearing the sweater of Frank Mahovlich and snaring a pass from Red Kelly in the last minute of the playoff game and outsmarting Jacques Plante to score the winning goal as the crowd in the Gardens goes wild.

Billy built his own rink, and although the goal posts are only a couple of old tomato cans, the rink is regulation size. On Saturdays his chum, who lives two miles away, comes over and they practise together. Sometimes Billy's 63-year-old uncle is persuaded to haul out a pair of battered skates and teach both boys some of the skills he learned back in the days when stick-handling was one of the chief attributes of a top-notch hockey player.

Billy Young is not unique. In rinks all across Canada the kids of today are learning to be the hockey greats of tomorrow. In outdoor and indoor arenas they are developing their bodies and abilities towards the day when a scout from one of the professional teams might see them in action and put them on the negotiation list.

In our look at hockey in Canada we'll visit these rinks—watch the youngsters in action, and hear their own explanations of why they are willing to trundle out of bed at five o'clock in the morning so that they can get ice-time at the booked-up ice arenas. We'll see and hear their coaches at the practice sessions as they patiently explain the finer points of team play.

The professionals who, on April 9, will be in the middle of the Stanley Cup playoffs, will be examined, too. We'll experience the bumps and bruises of competition through a short-wave microphone strapped to Eddie Shack's shoulder, and we'll go to the Maple Leaf's dressing room for a session with the coach, Punch Imlach.

Johnny Wayne will take Billy Young to the Hockey Hall of Fame, to a game at the Gardens, and to meet the players who have become his heroes. It is an unforgettable experience for this young farm lad from Manitoba, an experience he will never forget.

Program Notes

APRIL 7

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

World Of Sport

The Grand National. A BBC film of the world's most famous steeplechase held at Aintree, England, on March 31. Commentators are Peter Bromley, Tony Preston, Michael O'Hahir and Michael Seth-Smith. Summary is by Roger Mortimer.

CBXT-Club 5

The parent and the student are given an insight into the 12 largest vocational classifications.

This Living World

Steve Bloomer examines some of the wonders of the Amazon River area in South America—the insects, birds, vegetation and animals that are found in and around the Amazon, with particular attention to the most feared hunter in the region, the jaguar.

Canadian

Ten-Pin Bowling Championships

From Empress Lanes, Winnipeg, six top bowlers from across the country compete for the national championship. Tony Chibi of Leamington,

On This Living World Saturday, Steve Bloomer examines some of the wonders of the Amazon River valley, particularly the jaguar.

Ont., 1960 and '61 winner, defends his title against: Red Glasser of Regina, four-time Saskatchewan titlist; Stan Magwood of Vancouver, B.C. champion; Don Leady of Edmonton, representing Alberta; Bill Burke of Winnipeg, his province's titlist, and Gerard Duranceau of Verdun, Quebec's top ten-pin bowler.

Don Wittman and Bob Moir provide commentary. George Kent is producer.

Countrytime

Manitoba Winter Fair—Brandon. A live presentation from the ring, featuring jumping, champion livestock, 6-horse teams, etc. Commentators are Lionel Moore and George Price.

Stan Leonard Golf

This new series of 15-minute filmed shows featuring Canadian golf star Stan Leonard is more advanced than the 1960 series which dealt with the fundamentals of golf. Leonard is host and commentator. A new way of giving golf lessons on TV is employed by using a super-slow motion camera which slows a normal two-second golf swing to almost a full minute on the screen.

Introduction. Leonard discusses various types of club shafts and golf ball compressions. He also explains the basic grip.

Dennis The Menace

Program Notes

APRIL 8

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Speaking French

Elementary French with Prof. Jean-Paul Vinay.

This Is The Life—Good Life Theatre

Religious drama.

Country Calendar

Regional supervisors of the Farm and Fisheries Branch from all regions across Canada are the guests on this show. Each describes his region and shows short films on the highlights of each particular one.

Junior Magazine

A special today is a dramatized history of early path-finding. Host Norman Welsh takes Rex Hagon on a fishing trip. Hank Hedges introduces another of Dr. Hans Haas' underwater adventures in which Dr. Haas talks about fiddler crabs. Doug Maxwell conducts another quiz, and Ross Snet-singer shows how to make lamp bases from chunks of wood.

Concert

Glenn Gould On Bach. A lecture-concert with Glenn Gould as commentator, conductor, and pianist, assisted by counter-tenor Russell Oberlin, violinist Oscar Shumsky, flutist Julius Baker and a string orchestra.

Heritage

New Shoes For Joey. (Presbyterian). Produced by Ed Rollins. This drama shows the work of the Chinese Presbyterian Church and community centre in Toronto. A Chinese laundry owner is annoyed because his young son spends too much time at the community centre and not enough time in attending church and helping out in the laundry.

Masters Golf Tournament

Chris Schenkel, John Derr and Jim McArthur describe live coverage of the final play in the 26th annual Glenn Gould discusses Bach and plays his works, both on piano and organ, today on Concert.

Masters held at Augusta National Golf Club.

Gary Player of South Africa, only non-American golfer ever to win the Masters, will be trying for his second win in a row—a feat never accomplished by previous winners. Arnold Palmer, winner in 1958 and 1960, will probably be Player's chief opponent. Palmer finished the 1961 tourney with 281 strokes, one more than Player.

Other golf stars participating include Jerry Barber, Tommy Bolt, Jack Burke Jr., Jay Herbert, Doug Ford, Gene Littler, Doug Sanders and Bill Casper Jr.

Reflections

A program of music and song with a regular cast consisting of violinist Francis Chaplin, soprano Jean Marshall, baritone Clarence Fleiger, harpist Phyllis Ensher, pianist Carol Hughes, and a string orchestra under the direction of Gordon MacPherson. Host is Pat Napier. Produced by Robert Alban.

The Piccolino	Phyllis Ensher
Sea Shell
Polonaise Brillante
(Chopin)	Francis Chaplin
I Give My Heart	Jean Marshall
Vienna, City of My Dreams	Clarence Fleiger
Climb Every Mountain	Marshall and Fleiger
Melody Fair	Carol Hughes

Walt Disney

Ludwig Von Drake In Spain. Professor Ludwig Von Drake appears in animated cartoon segments and narrates the live-action in this program about the native dances of Spain. Featuring the entire Jose Greco Company, Rafael de Cordova and other top Spanish dancers. Dances include the Muriena; the Expeta; the Fanan-quillo and others.

Hazel

The Three Little Cubs. A young neighbor has an IQ that rates him a genius and Hazel invites him into her Cub Scout Den in an effort to make him behave like a fun-loving boy instead of a book-worm.

Parade

Mort Sahl. Comedian Mort Sahl stars in this show.

Ed Sullivan

Guests include comedian Jack Carter and vibraharpist Lionel Hampton and his band.

Bonanza

Crucible. Adam Cartwright, robbed and left to die in the desert, faces another ordeal when he is held prisoner by a crazed miner.

Close-Up

Cowboy Of The Highlands. An interview with Joseph William (The Laird) Hobbs, an Englishman who spent most of his life in the farming country of British Columbia and later introduced to the Highlands of Scotland many of the ranching methods of Canada and the United States. Film is shown of his ranches in Scotland.

An added feature is a film showing the wild horses of France—Dream Of Wild Horses.

Quest

Black and White. Racial Prejudice in Jazz. (Documentary). Based on an article in a recent issue of Downbeat Magazine, experts in the field of jazz discuss an argument long underground and now coming to the surface about the position of white musicians in relation to jazz, and whether jazz is a Negro expression or by now simply an American one.

Taking part in the discussion are jazz singer Abbey Lincoln; drummer and composer Max Roach; record reviewer Ira Gitler; trumpeter Don Ellis; pianist Lalo Schiffrin; jazz writer Nat Hentoff; associate editor of Downbeat, Bill Coss; editor of Downbeat, Don DeMichael. Host is Robert Whitehead. (Rescheduled from last week.)

CBWT—The Pursuers

Police detective serial. Louis Hayward stars.

CBXT—TV Hour Of Stars

Man On The Ledge. A young man contemplates suicide for 14 hours on a high window ledge. Starring Cameron Mitchell and Sylvia Sidney.

A Game in the STANLEY CUP SEMI-FINALS

May be seen this evening, but as we went to press, the time had not been announced.

returns with more Manitoba historical anecdotes.

How does a newcomer to Canada get his citizenship papers? How does it feel to become a new Canadian? We find out from former Hungarian, Julius Schnur.

CBXT-Kerry Wood Storybook

Garden History. A story of where different plants come from, how they have been used, and how they are used now.

David Copperfield

David's stepfather, having failed to break the boy's rebellious spirit, sends him to a strict school—Salem House.

CBXT-Busy Fingers

A technique used today by some well-known sculptors is displayed by hostess Betty Nickerson and grade seven students. Wire is used as the frame and strips of cloth are dipped in thin plaster to create figures of humans.

CBXT-Gateway

Ernie Afaganis and one of Edmonton's top golf pros present the second in a series of golf instructional programs. This week's lesson covers grip, stance and balance.

Danny Thomas

Extrasensory Charlie. With the aid of others Danny convinces Charlie that he has extra-sensory perception and persuades him to make a large bet on a 50 to 1 shot at the race-track.

Live A Borrowed Life

From Halifax. Guest panelists are TV personality Libbie Christensen and meteorologist-TV personality Rube Hornstein. Regular panelists are Bill Walker and Elwy Yost. Moderator is Charles Templeton.

Room For One More

The Real George. George Rose is not enthusiastic about turning his garage into a stable when his daughter is given a horse.

Camera Canada

Hockey—An Affectionate Look. The program takes a look at hockey in Canada from Pee Wee through to the professional leagues. It also examines the impact of the sport on the Canadian way of life. Host is Johnny Wayne.

Academy Awards

The 34th annual presentation of "Oscar" awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences is held in the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. Comedian Bob Hope serves as master of ceremonies, and guests appearing on the program include Burt Lancaster, Fred Astaire, George Chakiris, Gogi Grant, many others.

Dickens' Famous Novel Makes Television Serial

CHARLES DICKENS' well-loved, semi-autobiographical novel, David Copperfield, is being presented on CBC-TV in 13 half-hour instalments, video-taped by the BBC. The series' 70 speaking parts make it one of the most ambitious productions ever undertaken by a television drama department.

David Copperfield began April 2, and is being seen Monday afternoons. In the first four episodes young David is played by 15-year-old Leonard Cracknell of Hornchurch, Essex, who is making his TV debut. The older David, who does not appear until part five on April 30, is played by Robert Hardy.

Diana Fairfax is seen as Mrs. Copperfield; Edna Morris is Clara Peggotty, David's nurse; William Devlin as the sadistic Mr. Murdstone; Meadows White as the "Willin'" Barkis; George Woodbridge as Daniel Peggotty; Andrew Downie, who has sung in Gilbert and Sullivan productions at the Stratford (Ontario) Festival, as Ham Peggotty; Mabel Constanduros as Mrs. Gummidge; and Patricia Rootes

Mlle. de Paris

Another visit to places of interest in the famous city of Paris with hostess Evelyne Dandry.

Music Break

Featuring singer Georges LaFleche with the Bob McMullin Orchestra and announcer Warren Davis.

Guest this week is Janet Stewart.

Bal Dans Ma Rue
Mademoiselle de Paris
Valentine
Put 'em in a Box Georges
All of a Sudden My Heart Sings
I Enjoy Being a Girl Janet
Memories of You
Poor People of Paris Orchestra
Fancy Meeting You Here Duet

Old friends are best, when you get to be old yourself. That's how Arthur Foster, left, sees it, and one of the pleasures of his life is his visits to Bill Langley's, where the two pensioners play checkers. Both Mr. Foster and Mr. Langley worked on cattle ranches, and enjoy discussing common experiences. They are seen Wednesday when Explorations reveals the hidden world of the pensioners.

CBWT—Ladies First

Gerdine Crawford gives more sewing suggestions to viewers. Germaine Warkentin reviews the arts and president E. B. Osler previews the summer plans of Rainbow Stage.

CBWT—Busy Fingers

Canada Book Week. Betty Nicker-son welcomes three young pupils from Verna Edwards' grade two class at Hastings School in St. Vital. In conjunction with Canada Book Week, the youngsters read poems and then drew pictures to illustrate scenes from the poems.

The paintings sent in by viewers are also shown and the book award for creative story illustrations continues. Producer, Ron Bashford.

CBXT—Gateway

Al Richardson and Dick Bocking present interviews and films covering the Alberta farm scene. This week, direct from the Alberta Progress Trade Fair.

Mr. Fix-It

Peter Whittall, assisted by announcer Rex Lorin, continues with his four part series on how to build a pontoon houseboat.

Kraft Music Hall

Presents the American Landscape

Host and narrator Burgess Meredith presents an hour-long program of folk music and folklore. The program touches upon six aspects of folk idiom—love songs, humor, poetry, art, country music and Western music. Guest stars include comedian Phil Harris, actor Chuck Connors, Broadway musical stars Barbara Cook and Peter Palmer, and novelist MacKinley Kantor. Also the Peter Gennaro dancers, Ray Charles singers and the Mitchell Ayres Orchestra.

Explorations

The Hidden Worlds. Part III. The Hidden World Of The Pensioner. This program tells the story of an old man in the city, bringing into focus the outlook and philosophy of the elderly people in the community whose lives most of us only glimpse from time to time. Film is directed by Peter Kelly. Produced by Ken Black and Frank Rasler.

CBWT—Recital

Featured are pianist Carlina Carr and mezzo-soprano Joan Maxwell accompanied by pianist Chester Duncan.

Miss Maxwell sings:

Roten Rose
Begenung Richard Strauss
Three Creole folk songs C. Nickerson
As I Came Over the Grey,
Grey Hills Joseph Campbell

Miss Carr plays:

2nd movement, Sonata No. 22
in F major, op. 54 Beethoven
Jeu d'eau Ravel

Folk music and folk lore is presented Wednesday on Kraft Music Hall, with Burgess Meredith, above, as host. Perry Como takes a holiday this week.

Law Courts or Clinics?

LAST NOVEMBER members of the Academy of Medicine in Toronto heard a stimulating address by Professor J. Desmond Morton, Q.C., of Osgoode Hall Law School in Toronto, which drew attention to what he sees as "a current trend to convert the criminal law courts into clinics." His talk stimulated such widespread interest that the CBC invited him to develop his arguments into a radio series of five lectures, which University of the Air will present on Monday nights at 10:30, beginning April 9 under the title of The Function of Criminal Law in 1962. They will be followed by a sixth broadcast in the form of a discussion between Professor Morton and critics of his views. The programs will be repeated Tuesday mornings at 9:45 beginning April 24.

"In these lectures," says program organizer Lewis Miller, "Professor Morton undertakes an analysis of traditional criminal law and criminal courts with the hope of isolating the main function of the existing system."

"This analysis," explains Morton, "is highly speculative, and since it largely disregards historical and contemporary explanations of such function, it is likely to attract as much ridicule as approval." But the possibility of ridicule does not deter Irish-born Professor Morton. He says he "will be content if, at the end of the series, the listener is aware that our society may be in the process of throwing out the legal baby with the bath-water."

Lewis Miller has supplied an outline of the series, which begins with a lecture on Law and Morals: The Concept of Guilt. Professor Morton introduces listeners to various definitions of crime and some current concepts of the relation of law to morality. He sets out the formal requirements for a verdict of "guilty of crime," and answers the question: Why do we lock people up?

In his second lecture, on The Concept of Responsibility: More in Sorrow Than in Anger, he further explores the concept of responsibility in criminal law, in an analysis of the distinction drawn between the legally normal and the legally abnormal citizen. His third lecture, titled To Convict Some of the Guilty, examines the criminal process and suggests that it exists to convict only some of the guilty.

Lecture four, titled Law and Conscience: Criminal Law as a Social Institution, suggests the theory that the primary function of criminal law and the criminal process is a general one of implanting and nurturing ideas of right and wrong in society as a whole. This general function is, in Professor Morton's view, far more significant than the particular function of dealing with individual criminals.

In his fifth talk, titled The Last Battle: Implications of the Theory, Professor Morton considers the implications of the notion that criminal law functions as a "conscience strengthener and not as a garbage-disposal unit." In the sixth broadcast, on May 14, he faces a panel of critics of his views—a lawyer, a psychiatrist, and a sociologist.

Professor Morton was born in 1927 in Lurgan, Northern Ireland, and received his early education at the Royal Belfast Academical Institution. During the Second World War he served with the Indian Army. He graduated from Trinity College, Dublin, in 1951, and was called to the Irish Bar the following year. In 1952 he was appointed to the faculty of the Osgoode Hall Law School, in Toronto. He was called to the Ontario Bar in 1953 and was appointed Queen's Counsel in 1961.

Professor Morton has written two books on the law of evidence, and has contributed articles to a large number of popular publications and legal periodicals. He is married, and he and his wife, Rosemary, and their four sons live in Toronto.

Mort Sahl:

"... Voice of the Era"

"I'VE HAD A terrible day," Mort Sahl will tell you. "I've been living in our society."

A volatile Montreal-born comedian, he's considered the most important political satirist since Will Rogers, but his wit is more biting than Rogers', almost savage. "I don't have the image of myself as a comedian," Sahl says. "I never said I was one. I just sort of tell the truth and everybody breaks up along the way."

Sahl is the generally accepted leader of the off-beat funnymen. Unlike many of them, he writes his own stuff—even, he insists, ad libs his own ad libs, using the free-association technique to get his laughs. Contrarily, like many rebels without cause, he enjoys wearing a uniform, his consisting of slacks, sweater, and a shirt open at the neck, and he carries a rolled-up newspaper. He performs on a bare stage. And he usually ends his act by enquiring if there are any groups he has neglected to antagonize.

When he visited Toronto recently, the CBC videotaped a program featuring Sahl and his irreverent,

METROPOLITAN OPERA

Tosca. Opera in three acts by Puccini. Cast: Floria Tosca, a singer—soprano; Mario Cavaradossi, a painter—tenor; Baron Scarpia, chief of police—baritone; Cesare Angelotti—bass; a sacristan—baritone; Spoletta, police agent—tenor; a gaoler—bass; a shepherd boy—contralto. Scene, Rome. Time, about 1800.

Act I. Angelotti, an escaped political offender, seeks refuge in the church of Sant' Andrea alla Valle. While praying for his release his sister has unconsciously served as a model to the painter Cavaradossi for his painting of the Magdalen. Cavaradossi enters and is talking to Angelotti when they are interrupted by Tosca who is beloved by Cavaradossi. She jealously imagines he is having an intrigue with another woman and the painting confirms her suspicions. She makes an appointment to meet him later and departs. Angelotti makes his escape disguised as a woman. Scarpia enters in search of the escaped prisoner and finds the fan of Angelotti's sister. He is suspicious and when Tosca enters, also suspicious, he watches her from behind a pillar. He arouses her jealousy by producing the fan and she departs in anger. Ordering his agent to follow, he passionately avows his love for her, then kneels in prayer with the others in the church.

Act II. The Farnese Palace. Scarpia is sitting at his supper. Spoletta, his agent, enters with Cavaradossi in custody. Scarpia questions the painter on the whereabouts of Angelotti without result. He then sends him to the torture chamber. Tosca enters and Scarpia describes to her in detail her lover's anguish under torture. At last she divulges Angelotti's hiding place. Cavaradossi is brought out and denounces Tosca for her betrayal of the secret. Distant drums announce the probable victory of Bonaparte over Scarpia's forces. Cavaradossi, exulting, is dragged away to prison. Tosca tries to follow him but is held back by Scarpia. He avows his passion for her and demands her virtue for her lover's freedom. Tosca finally pretends to yield and Scarpia then gives orders for a mock execution of Cavaradossi. Tosca also exacts a safe-conduct for herself and the painter to leave the country. She waits until he writes it, and having secured a knife from the table, stabs him as he advances to embrace her. Having piously placed a cross on the body, she departs to the sound of drums in the distance.

Act III. Cavaradossi in the prison at dawn awaits his execution. Musing sadly on Tosca's beauty and their love, he writes her a farewell note. She enters with the safe-conduct and tells him her news, explaining the need for a mock execution. He agrees to this and they depart happily. But the execution is real. Cavaradossi lies dead while Tosca playfully compliments his marvellous acting. As she realizes the truth, Spoletta enters with soldiers and denounces her as a murderer. He comes forward to take Tosca prisoner but she thrusts him back and leaps to death from the castle parapet.

POSTMARK U.K.

Ludlow. The Ludlow Bone-Bed is the strange name of the band of rock that runs through the Shropshire Hills near the market town of Ludlow. It contains the fossils of marine animals that lived hundreds of millions of years ago. A good deal younger, but still respectably historic, are the many fine buildings, the church and the huge ruin of Ludlow Castle, a rugged stronghold that saw many ferocious battles in the turbulent days of the Welsh Border Wars.

Gordon Snell talks to people of Ludlow about the past and present life of this ancient town.

MORT SAHL: VOICE OF AN ERA

mordant wit and mime, for presentation on Parade, Sunday night, April 8. It was filmed on various locations around Toronto, including the Don Mills Parkway, the corner of Yonge Street and St. Clair Avenue, the university quadrangle, and CBC-TV's master control centre on Jarvis Street.

Morton Lyon Sahl was born in Montreal on May 11, 1927. His father was an American who ran a tobacco shop and wanted to be a playwright. The family moved to Los Angeles when Mort was seven. His mother says he learned to talk at seven months and by the time he was 10 he was talking like a man of 30. He used to hang around the local radio stations, where he collected discarded scripts from garbage cans, took them home and read them in front of a toy microphone.

When he finished school he joined the American Army-Air Force, served in Anchorage, Alaska, where he was crew chief on an oxygen generator, edited the army paper Poop from the Group, grew a beard, refused to wear a cap, and was discharged after 31 months as a private. He graduated from the University of Southern California with a degree in city management and engineering. The idea of becoming an organization man in "Conformity City" revolted him. He liked poking fun better. He spent three years in experimental theatre, writing for small, off-beat magazines, and doing odd jobs around town. He tried, without luck, to get hired by 30 night clubs, and NBC told him he'd never become a comedian.

Near the end of 1953 he got a job in a San Francisco night club called The Hungry I (the "I" referring to "intellectual"), where he developed and polished his present technique. He makes razor-sharp attacks on the age of anxiety, delivered fast and sprinkled liberally with fractured syntax, jargon, and argot, like gasser, chick, drag, bug, weird-o.

He insists he isn't a sick comedian. "I've never uttered a negative word in my life about the status of man," he says, "and I don't tell jokes about amputees. If I criticize somebody, it's only because I have higher hopes for the world."

After his debut at the Copacabana, Variety reported: "Sahl comes on like a beatnik, with this big difference: he's got something to say and a funny way of saying it. There is no subject safe from the Sahl scrutiny. It's irreverent, but it's not irresponsible."

His ingratiating personality makes his malice so palatable that customers invariably demand more. One of his tricks is to get his audience to think he's on their side, then he switches quickly to the opposition and pricks some of the audience's pet balloons but so wittily that they can't help laughing at themselves.

A typical Sahl gambit: "That Julian Huxley—he's a swinger. Every time I read him, I say: 'You're right, you're right. There are principles.'" Once, he says, a bank robber slipped a teller a note saying: "Give me your money and act normal." To which the teller replied: "First you must define your terms. After all, what is normal?"

Sahl never tells a sentimental joke. He's so anti that he's even against the antis. One reviewer feels that "Sahl's popularity is a sign of yearning for youth, irreverence, trenchancy, satire, a clean break with the past."

"I'm the intellectual voice of the era—which is a good measure of the era," Sahl says.

SPORTS

THIS PART OF the year to most people is called spring, but to the hockey fan it's called playoff time. The NHL of course, holds most of the national interest. While the playoffs rage in the world's best hockey league, season statistics have been pushed to the back-ground. However, several interesting things happened during the 1961-62 season that are worth mentioning.

by
AFAGANIS
CBC Edmonton
Sportscaster

Perhaps the most disappointed player in the league would be Andy Bathgate of the Rangers. He led the league in scoring all the way until the final two days of the season. Bobby Hull, in his great stretch drive, tied Bathgate for the leadership, each counting 84 points. However, Hull was awarded the Art Ross Trophy because he scored more goals (50). Bathgate saw his hopes of scoring title, and a $1,000 bonus, slip by in 24 hours.

Bobby Hull became the third man to score 50 goals in a season. He, along with Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion, hold this coveted record. It was the second year in a row that a player has been able to accomplish this feat, and experts now believe that Hull, who is only 23, will not only break the 50 mark, but go as high as 60. Bobby Hull could become the greatest scorer in the game, even greater than Howe and Richard.

The Montreal Canadiens set a new team scoring record for a season. They counted 259 goals, to beat their old mark of 258 set in the '58-'59 season. The Canadiens also had a total of seven players that scored more than 20 goals. This too is a record for a team. The leading scorer on the Canadiens this season was sophomore Ralph Backstrom with a total of 65 points. Injuries to such stars as Beliveau, Moore and Geoffrion held their totals down.

The Detroit Red Wings missed the playoffs for only the third time in 20 years. This will be one of the rare seasons when Detroit players will not share in a playoff bonus, something that had become almost automatic.

Gordie Howe had another fine season, scoring 33 goals and a total of 77 points to finish seven behind the leaders Hull and Bathgate.

Howe had a fine chance to win another title until the final month of the season. The Wings began to slump, and Howe suffered along with the rest of the team—his production fell off.

There are several rumors at this stage in the NHL year. From what I hear, and the word comes from a good source, three coaches may get the axe when the playoffs are completed. Detroit's Syd Abel, a real nice guy, is reported to be on the way out. Jack Adams was not happy with the Wing's performance. Boston's Phil Watson couldn't do much with the Bruins, and he may be let out, although the Bruins just didn't have the horses. The most surprising rumor concerns New York's Doug Harvey. Rumor has it that Harvey, despite all the rosy publicity to the contrary, has not been able to satisfy the Ranger brass. As a player, Harvey is still outstanding, but the word is that Muzz Patrick did most of the coaching after the season got under way. The fact that the Rangers made the playoffs could keep the axe from falling, or postpone a switch. Remember too that Harvey has two years to run on his three-year contract, and that gives him a certain amount of security.

Now a reminder that CBC-TV has come up with good news for the golfers. Watch for the listings on the Masters coverage, and the new instructional program with Stan Leonard as host. This Saturday Stan reviews golf equipment, and tells you about the latest innovations.

THE BRIGHTON TRUNK MURDER

"Not Guilty Mr. Birkett; not guilty Mr. Birkett!" This was all Tony Mancini could say to his defense counsel after he was acquitted of the murder of Violet Kaye. In the dock he had not seemed to realize what the verdict meant until Mr. Justice Branson told him he was discharged.

The defence of Mancini by Mr. Norman Birkett, K.C. (now Lord Birkett) is one of the classics of the century. The chain of circumstantial evidence against him was strong, but Birkett broke it by implanting such doubt in the minds of the jury that the prosecution was unable to prevent the unexpected verdict of "Not Guilty."

FRENCH TV NOTES

The Big Top's activities would not be quite complete however, without the children. They will participate in three other series—one a brand new feature—to be produced under the big tent. These are: Kermesse in which young contestants compete in games of skill and chance to win handsome prizes; Dans tous les Cantons, where adults and children alike join in country dancing and singing; and a new talent caravan, which will give amateur performers a chance to try out their talent in front of live TV cameras.

Exploration and Adventure

Several new series are scheduled as summer replacements in the children's daily hour of fun and adventure, and the ever-popular Moulin aux images returns for another year. This is a bright, light conception that combines the polish of Close-up and the straightforwardness of a newscast, as well as the adventurous flavour of This Living World. Le Moulin aux images, under the expert guidance of mime Hubert Fielden (better known as Sautapic) this year conducts a Trans-Canada tour. The reporter will visit Canada coast to coast in a series of amusing, instructive reports. Children will find him buried in the spring snows of Port Churchill or sliding in the granaries of a Manitoba railway siding, or admiring the flat stretches of Saskatchewan. He will visit the prehistoric badlands of Alberta, the Calgary Stampede and many other typical Canadian scenes.

Three other new series are scheduled, the first "Entre deux eaux" (between two waters) in which sportsman-actor Jacques Godin dons a diving suit to illustrate the finer points of underwater exploration. Actress Shirley Temple is featured in a series of old-time favourites from the world of fairy tales and nursery rhymes such as Sleeping Beauty, and finally, a Paris-Television production entitled Poly will tell the extraordinary adventures of a group of French children on holidays, who learn to love a little pony and to despise his cruel master.

Canada At War

Following are comments by Thomas G. Land, from the Montreal Star, in which the critic reviewed the National Film Board production Canada at War, to be seen on Channel 6 on Friday evenings at 7:30 p.m., beginning April 6.

"Executive producer Peter Jones regards the War series as a historical document and also a useful visual teaching aid. The series, he explains, uses a number of films made by the Defense Department's special camera crews during the war, some of which have been kept from the public until now for security reasons. The films also employ many feet of film obtained from Britain and the United States as well as some captured from the Nazis.

The War series has been completed under producer Stanley Clish, while Associate Producer Donald Brittain was responsible for the commentaries.

"Dusk," the first film of the series, is in two parts. The first analyzes events preceding the outbreak of World War II. The second part probes the early events of the war which soon was to inflame the globe. The camera takes the viewer to China, explains the Spanish Civil War, and presents portraits of Hitler and his southern ally, Mussolini. This was the period when Germany set up the first of the concentration camps which later served as common graves for some six million European Jews.

"Each of the 12 other films of the series explores a period of approximately six months in World War II.

"The War series has no message to offer to its audience. It is merely the recording of events taking place the world over, with special attention paid to Canadians and their contributions to the Allied victory.

"I want to emphasize," Jones says, "that in the series we aren't trying to make heroes out of Canadians. It's understood that we didn't win the war alone. But, as most other countries have done years ago, we simply show our role in the war. Those old enough to remember those six trying years, will probably recognize some part or other in it. And to the young, it will be a revelation."

CHICKEN MACARONI PIE

PASTRY:

- 2 cups flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 tablespoons cold water

SAUCE:

- 6 tablespoons butter or chicken fat
- 6 tablespoons flour
- 4 cups chicken broth

Melt fat and flour until well blended. Then gradually add hot chicken broth. Stir until thickened — Add a trace of cinnamon.

FILLING:

- 3 cups cooked chicken
- 1 cup cubed ham
- 4 hard-boiled eggs (quartered)
- 2 cups cooked macaroni
- Chicken livers

To chicken, add Bouquet Garni (parsley, celery, bay leaf and carrot) salt, and an onion. Partially cover with hot water and cook until tender. Remove meat from bones and cut into large size pieces.

Add the rest of the ingredients except the macaroni. Pour sauce over chicken mixture and check for seasoning. Fully line a two-quart casserole with pastry. Put in one layer of macaroni and one layer of filling; then rest of the macaroni and filling. Cover with pastry crust. Brush with d'oreur (egg yolk, one tablespoon of cold water) and bake in hot oven 425° for 15 minutes. Reduce heat and bake until golden brown. Makes 8-10 servings.

TV Star Admits It's a Dog's Life

ONE OF THE stars of CBC-TV's family comedy series, Room for One More, weighs 50 pounds and stands 22 inches high—at the withers. The star's name is Tramp, and he's a mixture of Airedale, Afghan Hound, and several other canine breeds.

Room for One More, a sometimes-funny, sometimes-poignant series about a family in which there is always room for one more member — as long as the "one" is a child or pet needing love and kindness — is seen Monday evenings on the CBC-TV network.

Tramp, brown coated with dark brown eyes, was one of a litter of twelve pups born to a purebred Airedale named Penny, in Sun Valley, Calif., in November of 1958. His father, Pluto, is a mostly-Afghan professional actor who has appeared in many motion pictures and television shows. Penny is a non-pro.

From early puppyhood, Tramp showed indications of wanting to follow in his actor-father's paw prints. After attaining full growth at age one, Tramp began training under the direction of Frank Inn, who has supplied dogs, cats, raccoons, parakeets, horses and de-odorized skunks to Hollywood studios for 25 years. Tramp proved an apt pupil and was ready for "the big time" within a year after starting his training.

Tramp's big break came when his father, who had appeared in the pilot film of Room for One More, couldn't appear in the series because of movie commitments. Needing a substitute that looked like the dog in the pilot, the producers auditioned Tramp and he got the part.

Tramp's current basic salary is $50 a day—$13.18 more than the union scale paid to his handler who accompanies Tramp to the studio. Option clauses in Tramp's contract may soon double the dog's salary.

Unmarried, Tramp lives alone in a clean, well-ventilated private kennel at the Frank Inn establishment. His diet consists of fresh beef, chicken, fish and an assortment of vitamins essential to his good health.

He rides to the studio in a chauffeur-driven station wagon, scorns the use of make-up and generally does everything asked by the director in one take. Between scenes, he either chews on a bone or dozes.

What's it Like to be Old?

—We'll all know some day, but the only people who can answer that question right now are those who are going through the experience, like Arthur Foster, above, who is 78.

Mr. Foster is the central figure in the third of a series on "Hidden Worlds," this week exploring "The Hidden World of the Pensioners," on . . .
